

Department of Revenue & Disaster Management
(Govt., of Haryana)
New Secretariat Building Haryana, Sector 17, Chandigarh-160017

OFFICE ORDER

It has come to notice of the authorities that specific female cleaning staff are being called for cleaning services in office/rooms by specific officers/officials. This exercise is against the decorum of Government offices. Needless to say in light of the 1997 Supreme Court Judgment in case of Vishakha & others Vs. State of Rajasthan and the promulgation of The Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition & Redressal) Act, 2013 such practices by officers are not desirable and very unwise. Accordingly, it is directed that henceforth no officer/ official will call any female cleaning staff to their office/room directly. If cleaning services are required, concerned Cleaning Incharge of the said floor may be called who shall ensure the room/space is cleaned in his presence. Needless to say, if it is found that any officer/official is calling any particular female cleaning staff directly to their office/room, a strict action will be initiated against the concerned under provisions of law in force in the country.

Chandigarh dated
the 11-06-2015

VIJAYENDRA KUMAR
Secretary to Government, Haryana,
Revenue & Disaster Management Department.

Endst.No.SR-1-2015/ 11704

Chandigarh, dated the 11-06-2015

A copy is forwarded to all the officers/ Branch In-Charges in New Secretariat Building Haryan, Sector-17, Chandigarh for strict compliance.

Superintendent
for Secretary to Government, Haryana,
Revenue & Disaster Management Department.